Dear Parents/Carers,

Thank you for your support over the last few days. At the time of writing, there has been no further update from Ofqual about how they are going to award grades this summer. As soon as information is published we will contact you with further guidance.

As stated last week if your son has any coursework at home then they should try and submit the work through Fronter. If they are unable to do so then can you please contact the School on the following e-mail address and ask for it to be forwarded to their son's class teachers: administration@rutlish.merton.sch.uk

Teachers have been placing additional transitional work on their subject pages. After Easter, an additional page will be set up that provides information on courses run in RR6 and will be available to all Year 11.

A number of companies are providing free courses. One of these is Open Learn which is run by the Open University and provides courses at different levels that may support your son's post 16 study. Students will need to register before embarking on a course at this website <https://www.open.edu/openlearn/>.

The situation is currently changing on a daily basis and we are encouraging families to follow the School's twitter account either through the School's website or directly through twitter @RutlishSchool

Finally, please keep safe over the Easter break and if you have any queries please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours faithfully,

Brendan Gormally
Associate Headteacher
